

Promoting Collaborative Partnership and Understanding of Malaria in Kenya

AMEE 2023, Glasgow, UK, 26th - 30th August 2023

Hester Lacey, Mai Sugimoto, Masako Shimato, Nityanand Jain, Kevin Oria

University Hospitals Sussex, QMUL, UCL, Riga Stradiņš University, Great Lakes University of Kisumu

TOMO Global Health is an online program which brings together international students and promotes the acquisition of essential competencies, interprofessional team working and foster the next generation of global health leaders. Our recent case study 'Malaria in Kenya' allowed participants to identify key goal health challenges.

TOMO Global Health

4069

ePoster - on demand

Interprofessional and Team Learning

Take home messages

- Our case study program brought together international healthcare students to analyse and produce solutions to the challenge of Malaria in Kenya. -Creative outputs were distributed by Kenyan healthcare students among local healthcare facilities, and students were able to expand their networks at an international level

created by
Kubify

<https://api.ltb.io/show/ABVRP>